

So You Want to Host a Replay Event?

You got this! Here's a straightforward guide to get your event up and running.

Pick a Date

Check local schedules on DGScene, UDisc, and the PDGA calendar to avoid conflicts. Choose an open weekend or weekday evening that gives your event the best chance to draw players.

Lock Down a Course

Reserve your course through the proper channel—city, park district, or private owner. Each location may have different requirements (permits, fees, insurance), so confirm everything before announcing your event.

Post it on discgolfscene.com

DGScene is your event hub for registration, payments, and communication.

- Include "Innova Replay" in your event title
- Set up divisions, caps, and options during registration
- Set up registration so that players can select disc weights during sign-up (highly recommended)
- Encourage early registration so you have accurate numbers when ordering Players' Packs.

Going PDGA? (Optional)

If you choose to sanction your event, register it as an X-Tier through the Professional Disc Golf Association. Sanctioning is optional, but it provides insurance, which some courses may require.

Order Player Packs

Place your order through Innova at least 5 business days in advance to allow for processing and shipping

- Players packs cost $35 each. Shipping is free.
- Recommended entry fee is $45 but you may need to adjust that based on local costs to run events.
- Order equal quantities of each disc type to avoid delays
- Have your DGScene event link ready when ordering
- Consider ordering extras if you plan to allow day-of sign-ups
- Receive a free TD bundle for every 15 players packs ordered: 1 winner disc, 1 CTP disc, and 1 each of $30, $20, $10 gift cards for the Innova Factory Store

Spread the Word

- Start promoting early and keep it consistent
- Post in local club groups and social channels
- Share your event on UDisc
- Put up flyers at nearby courses and shops
- The earlier players hear about your event, the better your turnout will be
